The place from Rogers offers 72 different dishes and drinks on the menu at an average price of $5.8. Schlotzsky's continues to evoke mixed sentiments among diners. While some patrons laud the friendly service and satisfying sandwiches, others express disappointment over declining portion sizes and quality. Instances of exceptional customer care, like honoring a meal without immediate payment, showcase the restaurant's commitment to community values. However, challenges remain; customers report issues with management responsiveness and product availability, such as a lack of au jus during promotions. Despite these hiccups, many guests reminisce about the restaurant's historical charm, and a dedicated staff is working hard to restore the beloved experience that once defined Schlotzsky's.
