Three generations of exceptional seafood makes the White Cap one of the few remaining family restaurants left in South Mississippi. I had an oyster salad, a cold, cold brew and bread pudding. It was a memory lane moment since White Cap used to be one of my favorite lunch and dinner places back in the previous century. The oysters were cooked to perfection, lightly breaded and succulent. The bread pudding was full of... read more. What User

doesn't like about White Cap Seafood Restaurant:

This place was close to the hotel, we stayed at the Oasis. The food was good nothing to brag about, we would go back. The views are nice, the staff pleasant and attentive. The portions are large and the drinks were good. read more. When the weather is good you can also eat outside, And into the accessible rooms also come visitors with wheelchairs or physiological disabilities.
