What User likes about Alimentari:

We've been going to DiBruno's on St for cheese and salumi for years, first when we lived in Philly and now when we visit. The Rittenhouse restaurantmarket gives us a downtown option, which we tried this weekend. The Extravaganza was stunning, and the extra burrata we ordered was icing on the cake. DiBruno's couldn't you please open a branch in Washington, DC? read more. What User doesn't like about Alimentari:

The food, $70/per person for Valentine's, was at best mediocre and if it had it been $70 for two the same review would be the same. An utter rip off at $140 for two. Service was terrific, wine (not included) also good, as were the gnocchi. Unfortunately the rest of the food was poor and appetizer portions hardly enough for one, much less two. read more. The eatery spoils you with a bit of this and a bit of that with their well-known Tapas, At the bar, you can relax with a freshly tapped beer or other alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks. Our large variety of drinks prepares the perfect for every taste, and you can expect original Italian cuisine with classics like pizza and pasta.
