Great restaurant tucked away in a commercial building across from the airport. This is a chef-owned business and the eponymous Mawa came by to greet us. The food was delicious and generously portioned. The description read French by way of Africa. The restaurant was celebrating Black History Month and had bunch of specials representing Black cuisine in America. Everything was well executed and delicious. read more. What eating was quite good, but in any case it didn't seem like it was worth the price also for aspen. the cancellation conditions are crazy. I would not recommend getting a reservation unless it is peak season and will be super busy. read more.
