What User likes about Poke Bros.: I just ordered a few times from here and eating was always great, but I wanted to leave a review today to thank for taking zöliakie so seriously I added the psychaltar to my bowl not to realize that it had gluten, and they actually called me on the phone to tell me it contained gluten. seriously about and about, I really appreciate it, they have just made a customer for living! What User doesn't like about Poke Bros.: the food is good, but the prices are high and the portion sizes have become smaller. my $13 bowl just filled half. for example, there were only 5 discs gurken and like 12 edamame bor. they could at least make up the rising costs for the deliveries by giving customers more rice. also this location does not have the same loyalty program as the glenn mills location.
