What User doesn't like about Sophie's Mexican Kitchen: Feels like the place is masquerading as an actual real restaurant with real food. The menu is very small, which isn't a problem if the food is great, but the chicken strips I got were not much better than frozen stuff you'd make at home. The fries were nothing special and even the water had a bad taste. I'm not sure about the fountain drinks since I didn't get one seeing how they didn't have an on the menu. The price... It's definitely always an experience to be in a typical saloon and to eat; to feel like a cowboy for once with a chilled drink and also the finger food like crispy fries, onion rings or a hearty burger, Especially, many visitors are looking forward to the diverse, fine Mexican cuisine. The eatery also offers a extensive variety of spicy tapas, which are definitely worth a try, fine vegetarian recipes are also in the menu available.
