one of my Indian places in Berkeley. This restaurant is in perfect location at the Durant Avenue and offers a lively street view. They can choose to sit on the terrace outside or in the restaurant inside. The food is served at both seats, even if they order at the cash register. The personal is friendly and patient while ordering. They serve free tea with any order that is great because I love tea. The food is deli... read more. The diner and its rooms are wheelchair accessible and thus reachable with a wheelchair or physiological disabilities. Depending on the weather, you can also sit outside and eat and drink. What User doesn't like about House Of Curries:

the food itself tasted good to me, but the place is quite dirty and there is never anyone to order at the counter. The place is kind of decrepit and seems to share an entry with a sketchy motel. In the effort to order the person, from an abandoned lounge area with a large dirty cut couch and also another storage room with paper over everything. read more. With typical Indian spices delectable meals and sides like rice or naan, they cook fresh at House Of Curries in Berkeley. On the menu there are also several Asian meals. For the undecided, the inviting smell of fresh flatbread combined with the tasty, syrupy promise of fresh baklava might be the necessary push - the Middle East is decidedly closer than expected, there are also delicious vegetarian meals in the menu.
