The Card of Joong Boo Market from Chicago contains about 10 different meals and drinks. On average, you pay for a dish / drink about $7.6. What michael O'Shea likes about Joong Boo Market:

The yook gae jang is great from the corner kitchen, and you know it's fresh. Since the ingredients for kitchen are coming from the same market. It's a spicy warm delight. I have yet to get a table but take out is always the first option. With some exotic impulse buys for the adventurous eater to gather when you waiting for your order to come up. read more. Traditional courses are prepared in the kitchen of Joong Boo Market in Chicago with original Asian spices scrumptious, The successful fusion of different meals with fresh and occasionally daring products is highly valued by the customers - a good example of Asian Fusion. No Korean feast is complete without typical Korean meals like Kimchi, Bap and Jjigae, which are served on the menu and the plates of the visitors.
