This Filipino cash-and-carry serves up a nice mix of stick-to-your bones favorites: extra long lumpia, pork tocino with rice and fried egg, coconut chicken adobo, soy sauced crunchy chicken wings, to name a few. Without a doubt, the food is good; just plan out your day accordingly as you'll likely get your daily dose of sodium in one seating. Still, is it worth it? Most definitely yes. read more. What Jamie Gregory doesn't like about Lucky Three Seven:

Came here for lunch on a Sunday. Super disappointing that they were out of everything. They had like 3 things available. Person said they had "specials" and the menu online just represents what the dishes look like, not that they actually have them. Where's the food? Cash only too! read more. The restaurant also offers the possibility to sit outside and be served in pleasant weather. The customers love it when Asian cuisine meets a bit of creativity.
