Born out of necessity as a grist mill in 1863 in Rochester's early years, it transitioned to pressing apples into cider in the 1930's. Ownership has since changed hands and is now the legacy of the third generation Posey family. Their cider can't be beat and their fresh donuts are a must. I have gone there regularly since I moved to Rochester in 1977 and have been blessed to possess many personal, fond memories of Ch... read more.
