Today I went to almost every single bakery in Chinatown, and this place was my favorite. Lots of room inside to walk around and geek out over bread without people bumping into your back. Best part was they brought out all this freshly baked bread-they were all still warm and amazingly soft. I went for a pineapple bun, which was objectively the best tasting out of all the ones I tried today. Stacks up to my favorite b... read more. What L M doesn't like about Top Bread:

I had an incredibly surprising experience at the store today. As I was perusing the bread section, I happened to notice a fly on one of the loaves. Concerned about the hygiene of the product, I promptly notified a nearby employee. To my astonishment, they seemed dismissive of the issue, assuring me it was trivial. What left me utterly flabbergasted, however, was their subsequent action: they nonchalantly removed the... read more. A visit to Top Bread is particularly valuable due to the large selection of coffee and tea specialties, The meat is freshly prepared here on an open flame.
