We went based off Yelp reviews. There was a sign posted saying they were short staffed, one waitress was working the entire restaurant, including bussing the tables. Due to this the wait was quite long to order and be served, but to no fault of the solo employee. That being said the food was great. We had the soufflé and a standard breakfast with eggs/hash browns. Everything was cooked as ordered and all the menu opt... read more.

What User doesn't like about Fiddlesticks Cafe:

I don't get all the good reviews. My husband and I decided to try this place based on them. I had the corned beef hash benedict which was soggy hash browns (tasted like rice) mixed with very little, tiny square pieces of some meat which was not corned beef. It was not reddish but brownish, based on my husbands omelet it may have been ham. The eggs were good but drowned in the hollandaise sauce which was canned and hor... read more.
