The place from Closter offers 17 different meals and drinks on the menu at an average $10.2. Nestled in a vibrant neighborhood, this restaurant has garnered mixed reactions from diners. While some praise its clean ambiance and unique decor, others find it overpriced for the quality received. The menu, only accessible via smartphones, can be inconvenient for some guests. Dishes like dumplings and fried rice receive commendation for their authentic flavors, yet criticisms arise regarding blandness and portion sizes. Service experiences vary, with patrons noting both friendliness and indifference. Overall, the establishment seems to attract a niche crowd, appealing particularly to those seeking a cozy, casual dining experience, though not without its share of reservations.
