I love Zaro's Bakery at Newark Penn Station. Although this train station is probably one of the busiest in America, the friendly people who work at Zaro's know exactly how I take my coffee and are awesome to deal with. Zaro's staff easily contend with at least 150 customers an hour during the morning rush. What is amazing is they stay so nice and calm as they contend with the avalanche of coffee-drinkers. All in, I can... read more. As a customer, you can use the WLAN of the establishment free of charge, and into the accessible spaces also come visitors with wheelchairs or physiological limitations. What User doesn't like about Zaro's Family Bakery:

today is St. Patrick's Day and I usually think here as a coffee and bagel and sometimes buy dozens of bagels to work. But this morning I stopped to bring some St. Patrick's Day cupcakes and they were not fresh. I bought 6 cupcakes small green frosting on them regular size $18.99 and Irish soda bread to take into work. It was embarrassing when the cupcakes staled and the service was terrible. I asked for paper plates the... read more. A visit to Zaro's Family Bakery becomes even more rewarding due to the extensive variety of coffee and tea specialties.
