4/5! came here for dinner with a few friends and the overall experience pretty good. I've been here a few times before the food and drinks and have no problems. They are also fairly late open for any late diner. The food: I went with Freddie's Bay Pasta as my duck. The pasta was good, the crab and shrimp was delicious and the garlic pasta sauce was also delicious. In the pasta there could have been some more crabs, but there were many shrimps. I will notice the prices are quite inflated for what the food is, so this is the only drawback of the foods so far. The service: The staff was amazing. The waitress we had was very simple and accommodating for our group. The food was also brought out in time. Total 4/5. A good place for dinner. Not too amazing, but good enough for a bite. The place also offers the possibility to sit outside and eat and drink in pleasant weather. What User doesn't like about Dead Freddie's Island Grill:

We had a large group which was probably why it took too long for our food. The portions were small and very expensive. The waitress barely came over to see us and The food was soagie and not very appetizing except the soup which was good. When we asked for the waitress to separate the check she didn't and gave us a large check for 11 people 4 which were kids. read more.
