Very cozy family owned place. The pizza and desert are very good. I was a little confused when ordering the margarita pizza and ended up ordering the wrong one, but the owner was very professional and caring when dealing with my frustration. Next time, I want to eat there instead of taking out. Everything will taste even better. read more. The restaurant and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus reachable with a wheelchair or physical disabilities. What Janine Ortell doesn't like about Serafina's Pizza:

My husband and I ordered an 18 inch cheese pie with prosciutto, tomato, and green peppers. In a word, the pizza was terrible. I would've given this one star but the only saving grace for the pizza was the thin New York-style crust. That is where the similarities end. The crust was extremely burned; to the point where all I can taste each time I took a bite was burned pizzadough (see photo). Gross. And the sauce on the... read more.
