Hands down, best ramen in town! The vegetables are all prepared with love and hold each flavor on their own. The red miso brings a beautiful color to the soup and creates an earthy, balanced taste. The noodles were done right. I found every sip and bite delightful. Can't wait to come back and try the kimchi fried rice. read more. The diner and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus reachable with a wheelchair or physical limitations.

What Gloria Schmidt doesn't like about 5th Street Public Market:

The market has declined in the past few years. The food court is not nearly as nice as it used to be and the food that I have tried has not been very good. They have fewer shops. There are several nice ones, but it needs improvement. Mindy's is good, Elephant Trunk is always great as is Provisions, and Rhythm and Bloom and several others. Marche has good food and a nice brunch on weekends. Although their menu has fewer... read more. If you want to try fine American dishes like burgers or barbecue, 5th Street Public Market from Eugene is the place to be, At the bar, you can unwind with a freshly tapped beer or other alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks.
