The Menu of Daguang Noodle from Chicago includes about 18 different meals and drinks. On average, you pay for a dish / drink about $5.0. What Justin Zhang likes about Daguang Noodle:

Visited recently after many years since COVID. I ordered the same thing as before. It still tastes good, but somehow, it's not as good as it used to be in my memory. I can't quite tell what the differences are, but it's definitely disappointing that they don't add all the small dishes in front of you at the table anymore. I will still come back and try different soups. read more. As a guest, you can use the WiFi of the restaurant free of charge.

What Cory Heffern doesn't like about Daguang Noodle:

To preface I have never had Yunan style noodles/soup before. The atmosphere was clean and quiet, and the employees were very helpful. But the beef soup was the most bland and untasty meal I have ever had. Never in my life have I stopped a meal early due to poor quality, but it was not worth taking up stomach real estate in Chinatown for this lettuce water. read more. Daguang Noodle from Chicago uses for its tasty meals the Thai culinary famous spices and (fish-)sauces, along comes freshly harvested vegetables, seafood and meat, Many guests are especially impressed by the versatile, delicious Chinese cuisine. It's precisely the freshness and lightness paired with the original Vietnamese spices that not only brings delectable dishes to the plate, but also puts the visitors into a pleasant holiday feeling for a short time.
