What User doesn't like about Chili's Grill: 09/22 eating was literally everywhere on the square, I get it his late, but her quality should still be good from the first order to the last order. steak was undercooked order med/well got midd rare, roommate salat was served without dressing and cheese covered lachs? odd. only the reason why you two get and not one is your waitress was over and beyond excellent and is a bright star. their chefs on the other side should be put on track by their quality control. would not recommend to go here after 930. the waitress named velma deserves accommodation that she saved in the night while her chefs sank the titanic. kitchen management should really devote more attention. first court to finish the quality should always first priority.
