I worked at pto 124 in artesia ca. 1983 thru 1987. it has closed a few years later. I'm never tired of eating there because the choices were many. I visit this pto a few times in the month. a 20-minute drive is worth it. the customer service is above average. the place is well maintained. something about the used dough makes it delicious. French fries taste great. chicken strips are fantastic. read more. The restaurant and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus reachable with a wheelchair or physical limitations. What User doesn't like about Pioneer Chicken:

what an explosion from pastness! they had all cling to which I remember, but the brot was not, it was more like a tempo batterry. the spelling combo and a wing were both good and the pommies were crispy. the flesh seems to have extra oil and the riders were perfect, go her figure. Nice to try it after forty years, and I will probably give it forty more. read more.
