I passed through Santa Fe and found this little gem for lunch. A pick and choose stir-fry that was good and fill the spot nicely. Vegetarian options: You can choose all vegetables in your stir-fry as you like. I can't call it vegan as meats are cooked on the premises. But there is a vegetarian restaurant right next door. The premises on site are accessible, and therefore no problem for visitors with wheelchairs or physical limitations. What Ryan Lange doesn't like about Anthony's Grill:

The service was great. Overall I was disappointed with the food and let me tell you the food isn't cheap. The orange chicken reminded me of something you'd get at Sonic without much sauce. The rest of our food was similarly meh. Benefit of the doubt...they were really busy so it might just be a preference thing, so if you are interested it might be worth a try despite my experience. But I'll go back to Chow's or Jinja... read more. An additional service offered by the restaurant is the catering service for visitors, the incredibly unconventional fusion of various ingredients guarantees visitors an unforgettable taste experience of this expertly prepared fusion cuisine. The Asian fusion cuisine is likewise an important part of Anthony's Grill. Anyone who finds the everyday and generally known menus too ordinary can here approach with a willingness to experiment and try some exciting combination of ingredients enjoy, the menu also includes delectable vegetarian recipes.
