This little spot for breakfast or lunch is a hidden jewel. So far I have had the sausage gravy and biscuits (to die for) and the roast beef sandwich and meatball sub. They were so good that I want to just keep ordering them but I am more excited to plow through the rest of the menu. Owner comes and talks to tables and everyone is super friendly. If you haven't tried them yet...you should! read more. What Paul Payet doesn't like about Artisan's Kitchen.:

After waiting over half an hour for our food (when there was only one table of 2 before us), I received my MICROWAVED crab quiche (which had no visible crab) and fruit cup which consisted of banana slices and a mangled piece of grapefruit. Extremely disappointing and a very regretful decision for my Mother 's Day breakfast which turned into brunch as it took forever to get our microwaved food.
